THE COLLEGE

In today's world, high academic achievement is very important. However, many people in Pakistan are dissatisfied with the standard of the undergraduate education available to them and would prefer a more rigorous British-type curriculum. The University College of Islamabad aims to provide this facility by offering a wide range of subjects taught in small classes which allow individual attention.

The College has at present, capacity of 150 students and offers a range of courses which lead to degrees from the international programmes of the University of London. These courses are taken over in three years and are taught by experienced teachers who are qualified from the UK.

TEACHING PROGRAMME

International students enrolled with the college are required to study four courses in each of the three academic years. Teaching runs throughout the week, and students are required to attend lectures, tutorials and/or seminars. Each subject is taught for a minimum of four hours per week.

EXAMINATIONS AND DEGREES

Examinations are administered by the British Council in Islamabad. All scripts are marked in the UK and the Degrees are awarded by the University of London.

THE FACULTY OF TEACHERS

The College engages lawyers with British Degrees to teach the courses.

FACILITIES

The college has a library with more than 1,500 textbooks of Law. It orders every year the latest books required to support the courses. It is subscribed to the New Law Journal . A Local Area Network (LAN) of twenty seven-workstation is available for the students. Students can have access to internet facility.

LLB (Hons.)

Law is central to society. Every community has found a need to regulate the rights and duties of individuals both to each other and the state. A law degree will certainly lead to a detailed knowledge of law and the legal system, but it is also an opportunity to develop powers of analysis and reasoning. The raw material of legal studies is human activity in all its diverse forms, which is why such a wide range of topics is covered. Not only is this variety an important foundation for those intending to practice law, but it is also a great advantage to students wishing to pursue careers in government, commerce and industry, or in any managerial or administrative field.

LLB students do not require any foundation course and can complete Bar-at-Law or LLM in one year. UCI also helps its students in seeking admission and scholarships for higher studies in UK, Europe, Canada and USA.
